

THE LAW & SOCIETY MINOR: COURSE LIST / REQUIREMENTS

Law & Society is an interdisciplinary minor requiring students to successfully complete four courses (at least 12 credits) from the approved course list, earning a letter grade no lower than C+ in each (C- for appropriate courses completed before the spring 2008 semester). Students registering for the Law & Society minor after the conclusion of the spring 2008 semester will be required to select one course each from four (out of five) different categories of study. At least two courses must fall outside the student's major, and no more than two courses can be in the same subject area, the only exception being cross-listed courses, which may be counted in any of the departments listed. Appropriate courses taken before registering for the Law & Society minor can be counted toward the four-course requirement. There are no required courses, but past students have found GOVT 3131 and PSYCH 2650 particularly relevant.

At the discretion of the Law & Society directors, permission may be granted to substitute an appropriate course that has been:

1. accepted from another educational institution toward the student's degree program (one course maximum)
2. taken as part of a semester abroad program
3. recently added to the Cornell curriculum

The best evidence of a course's appropriateness is the syllabus, which is often available online and can be submitted electronically to epl@cornell.edu for a determination. Petitions for course substitutions should be submitted before the student's final semester.

To facilitate tracking of courses taken and events attended, a printable student progress record can be accessed electronically or obtained as a preprinted form from the EPL office. Information collected on this form will be needed for the completion plan due by the end of the student's next-to-last semester before graduation.
