Spring 2016 Knight Prize for Writing in the Majors

The John S. Knight Institute for Writing in the Disciplines offers an award of $300 each semester for the best student paper written in a course affiliated with Writing in the Majors; honorable mentions, if any, will receive $100 each. Publication in Discoveries is also possible. Conditions for the award:

a) Submissions must be written by undergraduate students enrolled in Writing in the Majors Courses.

b) Entries can be of any length and on any topic. We recognize that students in these courses are writing in a wide range of disciplines and in a great variety of forms. For this reason, all entries must include complete and accurate documentation of all sources in an appropriate format.

c) Entries should be word-processed. Entries should include the author’s name, local address, and home address. Entries should include the course name and the names of the instructor and the student’s Teaching Assistant.

d) Please include the assignment along with a copy of the paper and the entry form below.

e) No more than three submissions per class. We count on instructors to vouch for the disciplinary value and accuracy of all submissions.

Submissions are due in 101 McGraw Hall by Tuesday, May 24. Undergraduate writers may not submit the same essay for more than one prize.

Spring 2016 Knight Prize for Writing in the Majors

Student’s name __________________________ College __________________

Local address __________________________ Local telephone __________________

Local telephone __________________________ Home telephone __________________

Email (Cornell and/or otherwise) __________________ Student ID number __________________

Home address (street, city, state, zip) __________________

Instructor’s name __________________ Instructor’s e-mail __________________

Ta’s name __________________________ Ta’s e-mail __________________

Department ______ Course # and title __________________

I understand that I may submit this essay for only one prize for the current semester. Should I win a prize, I give the John S. Knight Institute permission to publish, quote from, and/or distribute copies of the materials submitted, and to distribute publicity to newspapers and other publications, local and/or national, about my winning the prize. I am also prepared to send electronic versions of my text (not a PDF, but an editable text document) to the Knight Institute (knight_institute@cornell.edu). I will receive the award for my prize-winning portfolio upon submission of the electronic text.

Title of essay __________________

Student’s signature __________________________ Date __________________